Your credentialing process, handled with precision.

Why CRI?

Credentialing is complex, time-consuming, and often frustrating. Navigating insurance applications and payer contracts pulls valuable time and energy away from what matters most—your patients and your business. Even minor credentialing issues can delay reimbursement, impact provider start dates, and create administrative headaches.

At CRI, our dedicated Physician Groups advisory team partners with you to efficiently manage the credentialing and payer contracting process from start to finish. Our team brings hands-on experience working with payers nationwide across a variety of specialties. We provide end-to-end support by collecting all necessary data, submitting and managing applications, and providing consistent updates on your credentialing process. We actively participate in each application until it is fully processed—no handoffs, no dropped balls. By managing the credentialing process on your behalf, you and your team can redirect your focus back to running your practice and caring for patients.

Stop chasing paperwork and start reclaiming your time. By partnering with CRI to manage your credentialing, your providers get onboarded faster, your revenue cycle stays on track, and your team can breathe easier.
